

Dear Students, Faculty, and Staff,

On this auspicious and significant occasion of Nepali Bhasha Manyata Diwas, I extend my heartfelt greetings to each one of you. This day is a solemn reminder of the invaluable role that language plays in shaping our cultural identity, preserving our heritage, and fostering unity in diversity.

Languages are not merely tools of communication — they are vessels of history, tradition, thought, and emotion. Each mother tongue carries the wisdom of generations, the nuances of local expression, and the essence of a community's worldview. By recognizing and respecting every language, we celebrate not only linguistic diversity but also the dignity and identity of every individual of our nation.

As an academic institution, it is our responsibility to create an environment where linguistic diversity is not only acknowledged but cherished. Let us encourage the use of our mother tongues alongside national and global languages, and work collectively to preserve endangered dialects and indigenous languages through education, research, and community outreach.

On this day, let us reaffirm our commitment to fostering a culture of inclusivity, respect, and pride in linguistic heritage. May Nepali Bhasha Manyata Diwas inspire us all to protect and promote the rich linguistic mosaic that defines our nation across the globe.

Warm regards,
